Grassland, Atmore Couple Unite

GRASSLAND—The church at Grassland was the scene of a very pretty wedding on Nov. 16 at 2 p.m., when Miss Valerie Mildred Putnam, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Putnam, of Grassland, became the bride of Mr. William Ballard, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. Ballard of Atmore.

Canon Humphreys of Athabasca officiated.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was lovely in a floor-length gown of white satin, lace over satin bodice, long lace sleeves and lace trimming the skirt. Her fingertip veil was caught with a halo of net and lilies of the valley. She carried a bouquet of pink rosebuds and lilies of the valley.

Her bridesmaid, Miss Jean Moffat of Jeffrey, cousin of the bride, wore a floor-length dress of pink sheer with pink headdress and chapel veil. She carried a bouquet of pink and white sweet peas.

The little flower girls were Sharon Ballard, sister of the groom, wearing a yellow taffeta dress trimmed with white lace, and Marjorie Walker, niece of the bride, wearing a blue tafeta dress also trimmed with white lace. They both carried mixed sweet peas.

The best man was Mr. Stanley Ballard, brother of the groom.

The wedding music was played by Mr. McNeil, and a solo was sung by Miss Reese.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents, with about 45 guests attending. The table, laid with a white damask cloth, was centred with a lovely three-tiered wedding cake, and two bouquets of pink roses and white carnations.

The bride's mother wore a navy blue dress and a corsage of white gardenias. Mother of the groom wore a dark suit with a white cutwork collar, and a perky little hat.

Among the guests from a distance were Mr. Rod Baldwin of Edmonton, Miss Doreen Samis of Bon Accord, Mr. and Mrs. Keith Moffat and Mr. and Mrs. Donald Moffat and Bobby of Jeffrey.

In the evening there was a dance at the Atmore hall, where a very large crowd gathered to wish the newlyweds happiness.

RATEPAYERS URGED TO VOTE ON WATER AND SEWERAGE PLEBISCITE

LAC LA BICHE—All ratepayers of the Town of Lac la Biche are reminded that their vote is important regarding the water and sewerage bylaw; this vote is to be registered at the Town Office between the hours of 10 a.m. and 7 p.m. on Friday, Novmber 30.

It is important to consider that health conditions, attractions to people desiring building locations, general convenience to householders, reduction of insurance rates, greater protection in case of fire, and facilities for greater beautification of lawns etc. are some of the advantages that would accrue from the installation of these services.

Towns get known for their facilities — hotel accomodation, restaurant services, stores and garage services, streets and sidewalks, and public utilities such as good lights, telephone, water, sewerage, and gas. Schools and hospital services are significant in any community. As the various services develop towns become attractive and desirable as locations for businesses and professional activities as well as for industrial expansion.

Lac La Biche must still think of itself as the gateway to the Northeast of Alberta. It must think of the possibilities of the agricultural and industrial expansion of the area. It must give thought to the development of the area along the N.A.R. and of the growth of a highway connecting Lac La Biche and the potential oil fields of McMurray. Pipeline and highway coming down through Philomena, Mile 137, and Owl River from McMurray is significant to the development of the hinterland of Lac la Biche. As said before, this area has great advantages for an Air Force Training Base and the existence of these advantages cannot permanently detract from the possibility of the location of such an Air Training base here, perhaps in the near future. The public could be reminded that Lac La Biche has not been officially denied as a possible location for a Training base.

So civic improvement in roads, parks, sidewalks, services, accommodation and utilities such as gas, lights, water and sewerage are very important matters of vital concern to every resident in this Town.

The vote on the 30th must have a two thirds majority. And a heavy vote is requested. Remember that there is the question of getting the money yet. Even if the water vote is favorable and it is likely to be, then there must be an application for a loan for the cost of installation and the more decided the vote, the more the hand of the Council is strengthened in regard to the representation it must make in regard to this aplication for a debenture. All readers are reminded that money at a low interest rate of 2 per cent has been made available for loan to Towns that have such projects in mind where it appears that the population is stable and able to assume the cost of intallation and payment of a project which is considered self-liquidating. For it is argued that this is a most favorable time to borrow money and it is submitted that the number of users will in time pay off the debenture without any excessive tax burden upon the ratepayers. Pipes for the water were ordered over seven months ago so that there need be no delay on that account.

You are urged to vote on November 30. It is important.

IMPERIAL BANK ASSETS, DEPOSITS, GROW IN YEAR

Imperial Bank of Canada for the year ended October 31, 1951, reports assets and deposits by the public at new high levels. Profits before taxes also increased, but taxes were also higher, so that net profits after normal write-offs, show only a moderate gain. They amounted to $1,236,400, or $1.77 a share, compared with $1,158,311, or $1.65 a share, in 1950. Total assets are up $8,857,382 to $535,606,042.

Profit after depreciation, but before provision for taxes, was $2,386,400, as compared with $2,151,311 a year ago. Taxes took $1,150,000, compared with $993,000, and dividends amounting to $980,000, unchanged from last year were paid. A special write-off of $150,000 on bank premises was provided, leaving a balance of $106,400 to be carried forward, compared with $178,311 in 1950. After transfer of $1,000,000 to reserve fund, the credit balance forward is $1,075,745.

Deposits by the public increased to $461,564,962 from $446,920,851 a year earlier. Current loans increased to $220,775,511 from $194,299,482.

Among the bank's assets, cash or its equivalent is shown at $84,510,187, virtually unchanged from last year. Holdings of short-term Government of Canada securities increased slightly to $53,920,045 from $51,122,795, but holdings of other Government of Canada securities decreased to $117,189,692 from $138,973,074. Decreases are also shown in holdings of provincial and municipal securities, and holdings of non-Canadian securities, shown a year ago at $1,051,552 do not appear on this year's balance sheet.

On the liabilities side, deposits by the Government of Canada are little changed from a year ago, but Provincial Government deposits have decreased to $14,392,233 from $21,873,522. Total deposits, stood at $503,780,084 at the end of the fiscal year, compared with $498,336,896 a year earlier.

The annual meeting of the bank's shareholders will be held at 11:30 a.m. on Wednesday, November 28.

Dakin, and the groom was accompanied by his father, L. George Amiot. The only bridesmaid was Jeannine Amiot, sister of the groom, in gold satin and net, with Roger Dakin, cousin of the bride, as best man. New Canadian Flag

More and more, our country is taking its place as an equal among other nations of the world. An integral part of the British Commonwealth of nations, it is nonetheless wholly independent of the mother country.

People in the United States who know their U.S. history of the Revolutionary war of 1776 often have queer ideas about Canada's relationship to Great Britain. "We won our independence, why don't you?" is the attitude of some Americans. Part of this misconception is due to our continued use of the British flag as our flag and terms such as "Dominion of Canada" when referring to the country of Canada.

Parliament is abolishing the term Dominion. How about a distinctive Canadian flag?

Cut Living Cost

Canadians could greatly reduce the cost of living by revising their eating habits. It isn't necessary, for instance, to eat pure white bread, but it costs more and hasn't the same high food value.

This is one of the reasons why bread costs more in Canada than it does in Great Britain. Another reason is that Britain subsidizes bread from heavy British taxes. But the fact remains that British bread is made from 84 per cent extraction flour, while Canadians want a white bread from 62 per cent extraction.

The Dangerous Tractor

The Alberta Wheat Pool's clipping file shows that at least 18 farm people have lost their lives in tractor accidents in Alberta so far this year. Many others received disabling and painful injuries.

The latest fatal accident occurred in the Reno district near Peace River when Sidney Yaskevich was killed. His tractor toppled as it went off the edge of the road and Mr. Yaskevich was crushed beneath.

Farm people should never forget that the farm tractor is a dangerous implement. They should take particular care when operating it on a road. The tractor has a high centre of gravity and tips much more easily than an automobile.

The Arms Race

Just at present the peace of the world is being threatened as it never has been troubled before. In Iran and Egypt clouds are gathering on the horizon in deepening darkness. In Korea the massed guns are blazing in anger, even while armistice talks are being renewed. In the United States and Russia, the arms race is gaining tempo with blasts of atomic bombs and new weapons of destruction thundering out of great clouds of terrifying magnitude.

The cruel race seems on, with the end known to be immeasurable death and destruction for the nations, unless a halt is called to man's murderous designs. Reports of new atomic trial blasts follow one another from Russia and the United States, alternating their frightful threats to a peace loving world in terror of the final result.

Always before the great wars that have wrought their devastation and massed death, these arms races have taken place and never before has the race ended without bloodshed and horror for millions of mankind. Is it likely that nations forging their weapons of death can stop in time to avert the final triumph of evil and injustice?

The Canadian people are looking to their government with anxious eyes to put a stop to the evil designs of warmongers and bring peace to the world. The Christian church must join hands with all lovers of peace in every land and storm the heavens in prayer that God will hasten His day of universal peace before it is too late.

The Big Eye

By JACK SCOTT

Earlier this week I had a good look at what television is doing to the south. It put an awful wilt in my enthusiasm. Fact is, this new miracle is going to make some fundamental changes in the ordinary guy's way of living.

I went into one of the many cocktail bars that advertise television, hoisted myself on the last available red leather stool, ordered a Pabst and focussed on the screen. The set was down at one end of the bar, well above the eye level. All the customers had their heads cocked, giving them something of the appearance of robins listening for worms.

Curiously enough, the faces of my fellow listeners were utterly without expression. Later, when I mentioned this to the bartender, he said they had a name for it. They call it "the Video Stare."

"It ain't like a movie," this observer told me. "Even on the comedy shows you hardly ever see anybody laughing. They just look at it with that stare like it was hypnotizing them or something. In a movie, see, you're concentratin' on the screen. But here with people movin' around and waiters and bartenders mixin' drinks nobody pays much attention to the television. They look at it, but don't see it. Know what I mean?"

From what I saw in this and a couple of other bistros I'd say the bartender was right. Television in these places plays much the same role as the juke box. The music from the juke box is absorbed by the ear almost unconsciously. The flickering screen acts the same way on the eye. The net effect of both is to make the tavern a less pleasant retreat and to murder any real conversation.

In the homes, however, it is different.

I arrived at one friend's home just after the channel had closed down and assisted in the ceremony of pushing the chesterfield back into place. There were four guests, neighbors, and they left within the next 10 minutes.

"There you see a perfect example of the Video Bum," my friend said when the neighbors had left. "Got so we never spend a quiet evening alone any more. We have the only set in the block and they're beating a path to our door. All we need is a box office outside and we'd be just like a movie. This thing is making me anti-social."

I suggested this might be merely because television has the attraction of being new and that the visitors would either buy sets of their own or weary of the novelty.

"I hoped so at first," my host said, "but it isn't working out that way. A lot of people keep putting off buying a set because they're pretty sure there'll be some big improvements in the near future and also that the price may come down. And as for them getting bored with it—just the opposite. As a habit this things is worse than marijuana. And, of course it's free.

I had business to do with some newspaper executives, each of whom has a set. I asked them what effect television has had in their homes.

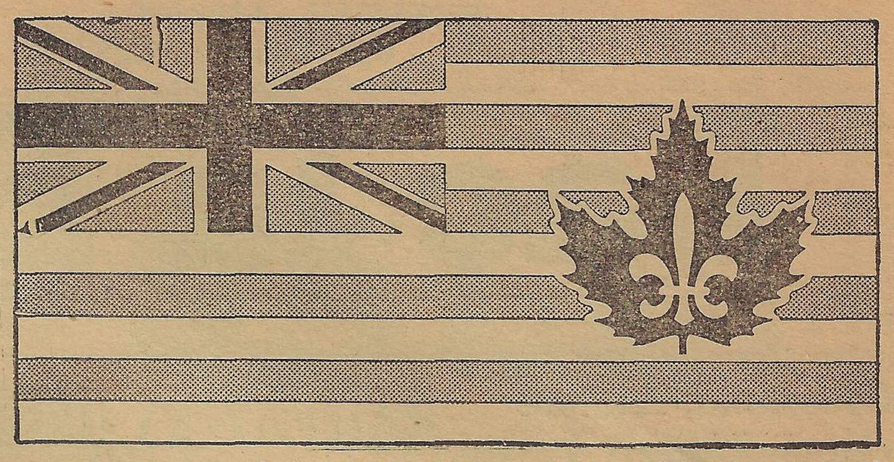

"Murder," one said. "It's first bad effect is educational. Our kids are nuts about television as they never were about radio. They keep glued to that bright square and most of the stuff they see is just junk. A year ago we thought our eldest boy, Bill, was going to be a reader. He was getting interested in books and ideas that were advanced for his age and I was happy about it. Video is keeping him away from that."

"But that's as true of adults as it is with kids," another put in. "The thing has a fascination about it. It keeps you from other interests. People have learned to be selective about ordinary radio. With television they'll look at anything that moves. And so far, at any rate, video has all the cultural aspect of a burlesque theatre."

Note and Comment

Efforts are being made in Saudi Arabia to extend the facilities of ancient irrigation systems by the use of modern irrigation techniques. However, water rights in this country are as intricate as the tunnels themselves which often cross one another at various levels and much of the government's trouble is to avoid infringing complex traditional customs.

The new move is, however, important because agriculture in Saudi Arabia depends entirely on irrigation, and though the areas under cultivation are widely separated by desert, they can be extended by a more efficient distribution of water. Rains in the autumn and early winter, which are not allowed to escape into the salt mudflats on the coastal plain, will be controlled by dams.

Combining the British Union Jack with the French fleur des lis, the above is suggestion of the Lions Club of Canada for solution of Canada's controversial flag question.

Dear Sir — Along with many others, we admire your courage in publishing the Sun against such formidable competition, when it looked as if Edmonton would be a monopoly newspaper town.

DRIVER EDUCATION

Dear Sir—Some months ago you were kind enough to publish details of General Motors' Driver Education Program.

After seven months, including the two vacation months, we are happy to report that it is in use in 145 schools from the Pacific to the Atlantic.

The Department of Education in each Province has a film kit in its library for the use of High Schools in outlying areas.

The RCMP plan to take the kit into use in their training depots and in their youth work.

The police departments in some areas are using the films in their own driver training program.

To date the program has been most successful in bringing to the attention of education authorities the possibility of making a contribution to the solution of the traffic problem through the education of young drivers. The role to be played by audio visual aids in making this education effective is, of course, generally recognized. The General Motors Driver Education kit has been accepted as an outstanding set of visual aids.

THANKS FROM RED CROSS

Dear Sir—May we take this opportunity of thanking you, most sincerely, for your generosity in promoting the Red Cross' September appeal for grain. We feel certain that had the weather permitted a harvest this year, that the time and space given by the media of Alberta would have encouraged the farmers to complete the needed $40,000 quota.

While we were not successful in reaching our objective, we do want you to know that we appreciate, greatly, your support and interest in the service we render crippled children in this province.

Yours sincerely,

Dear Sir—We find your paper very interesting and keeps us up-to-date on what's going on up around Alberta way. We haven't forgotten our fishing trip to Lake Wabamun and often talk about the lovely mess of fish we caught in such a short time. ALBERTA

A News Section About Alberta People

Week Ending Nov. 24, 1951

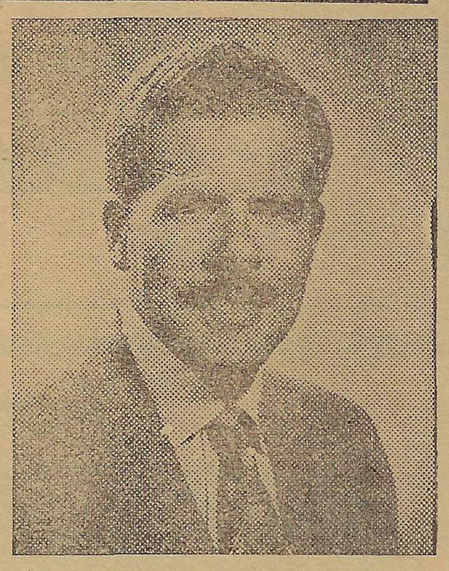

MAGAZINE WRITER SEES GREAT INDUSTRIAL FUTURE IN ALBERTA'S OILFIELDS

Rampaging wells and eager people are signs of the times in booming Alberta, whose oil find is the most significant on the continent since Texas Spindletop roared in 50 years ago.

Hailing a "brilliant industrial future for the top half of the continent," a December Reader's Digest article, condensed from Time, notes that since 1947, when the first Alberta well came in, 45 new oilfields have been established across the province. Portable derricks have drilled more than two new wells a day. Over 300 million U.S. dollars, "one of the freest and fastest streams of American private capital ever sluiced into a foreign country,' have been invested in Alberta oil.

The Digest article, "Alberta Strikes It Rich," is being published in international editions of the magazine throughout the world. Through it, editors point out, more than 50 million people in several dozen different countries will learn about Alberta's oil progress.

With "characteristic Canadian reserve," the article says, Alberta has suppressed most of the roistering atmosphere of a traditional oil boom. But evidence of a changing frontier is visible everywhere. Edmonton's population has leaped from 113,000 to 160,000 since 1946. Full fledged towns have mushroomed across the countryside. New schools, hospitals and highways, financed with government oil revenue, are building up and down the province. Alberta has reduced taxes seven per cent. Its debt has been cut in half.

A VOICE well known to Alberta housewives is that of Howard Cable, who is heard in a mid-day radio program three times a week.

Great pools of natural gas have also been probed by the drills. Enthusiastic U.S. oil men envision the Alberta of the future as a northern Texas whose oil and gas pipelines will fan out over the top half of the continent. Already Alberta oil is flowing fast enough to fill a third of Canada's needs.

"All this," the Digest article concludes, "has been accomplished in four years, with only the first big rush from the wells. For Alberta, the brimming best is yet to come."

Final Wheat Payment "Highest Can Expect"

Henry Young, president of the Farmers' Union of Alberta, said he approved of the $1.85 1-2 per bushel for No. 1 Northern wheat, final payment announced by the Wheat Board. "It was the highest price we could expect to get under the present system," he said.

Mr. Young said western farmers subsidize the Canadian public to the amount of 20c on every bushel of wheat sold. He is not satisfied with the present method of selling wheat for domestic consumption.

Roy C. Marler, president of the Alberta Federation of Agriculture, said, "I think the payment is acceptable considering the terms of the international agreement."

He believed the price was "a little low" considering increased prices for other commodities, and increased costs to the farmer.

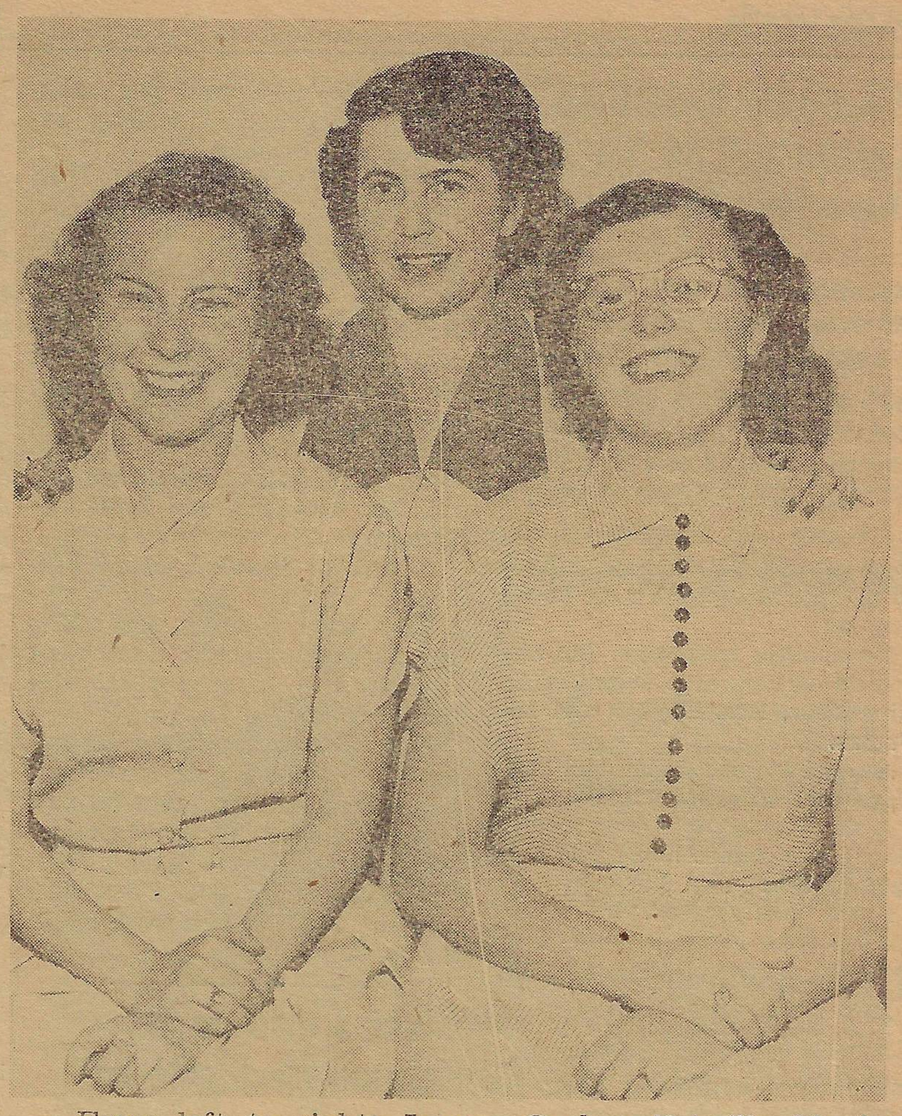

28 Towns To Have Automatic Phones

Twenty-eight Alberta towns will have their present telephone systems changed to automatic exchanges when Alberta Government Telephones begin their long-range improvement plan soon.

Mr. Alfred Higgins, general manager and deputy minister of telephones announced recently that, through the plan, the A.G.T. plans to "provide better service and modern equipment at a reasonable cost."

Mr. Higgins added that it may take 15 years to complete the entire plan, but the immediate attention will be focussed on six centers, at a cost exceeding $1,000,000.

Beyond Jasper Place and Namao, Mr. Higgins says the department is not prepared to release the names of other towns involved in the program.

The girls, Joanne Copley and Marjory Banta, earned their titles under the supervision of Miss Priscilla Mewha, district Home Economist, who has her headquarters in Calgary.

University Farm Wins Royal Winter Fair Award

The champion was exibited at the fair by Fred Major, herdsman for the university. The title of the steer, which was the first summer yearling in the market division, is "Earl U.A."

Reserve champion of the show was "Quiet Lad," Aberdeen angus steer by W. F. McRae and Sons of Hayfield, Manitoba, and reserve champion Shorthorn was "Glenburn Quadroon" owned by K. E. Deacon of Unionville, Ontario.

"Royal Model," a grade Hereford owned by Joseph and Lawrence Kallal of Tofield, Alberta, was the reserve champion of the grade and crossbred class.

The champion steer, owned by Frank Radau, of Bowden, Alberta, and E. F. Noad of Claresholm, was the first prize, summer yearling.

Persistent Cough Must Be Treated

By C. J. Somerville, R.N., P.H.N.

PLAMONDON — There is a persistent cough fairly prevalent in the infant and pre-school aged child in the Plamondon and surrounding area. While there is no whoop with this cough, if the child vomits at the end of a severe coughing spasm, this is most likely whooping cough and must be treated as such.

Some of these children have been inoculated against whooping cough, but they are still getting the disease. They have a mild attack and are not ill. The cough with vomiting are the only complaints.

All of these coughing children should be kept at home and no other child allowed in your home. It is a neighborly deed as well as a necessary health measure to do this, and your co-operation in reporting cases to the docor and nurse is the wisest procedure.

Cough medicines and cold cures are useless in curing this cough, and a waste of valuable time as well as money. One of the newest drugs since the discovery of penicillin is specific in treating whooping cough. You require a a doctor's prescription to get it.

Please face up to this problem in a sensible manner and in all fairness to your child, if you suspect he has whooping cough, get professional advice.

On the second Tuesday of the month, the Plamondon Municipal Nurse holds a clinic at Avenir. Keep this day in mind and thus avoid future inconvenience. There are no office hours the second Tuesday of the month.

No—Quite Late

"What time do you get up in the morning nowadays?" said the very earnest man.

"As soon as the first rays of sun enter our window," replied his friend.

"Jove!" exclaimed the earnest man. "That's early, isn't it?"

"No," said the other. "You see, my window faces west."

No Place For a Lady

It was the first variety performance an elderly woman had ever seen, and she was particularly excited over the feats of the illusionist. But when he covered a newspaper with a heavy flannel cloth and read the print through it she grew a little nervous. He then doubled the cloth and again read the letters accurately.

This was more than she could stand and, rising in her seat, she said: "I'm goin' home. This ain't no place for a lady in a thin calico dress!"

An elderly lady, after long trips through impressive hallways and an hour of waiting, was permitted to see a high up assistant in the Agriculture Department.

"But I want to see the Secretary of Agriculture himself," she protested.

"He's not in just now, madam," said the official. "Can't you tell me what it is you want to see him about?"

"Well, I have a geranium that isn't doing so well."

More Time

Harrison met Johnson after several years. "And is your wife as lovely as ever?" he asked him.

"Oh, yes," replied Johnson, "but now it takes half an hour longer!"

A Fair Estimate

"What will it cost me to have my car fixed?"

"What's the matter with it?"

"I don't know."

"Fifty-two dollars and fifty cents."

No Rain

An Indian had attended services one Sunday morning. The sermon had been very loud in spots and the Indian, though a good Christian, was not greatly impressed.

Later, when asked how he had liked the sermon, he said: "High wind. Big thunder. No rain!"

Letter to Louisa

Dear Louisa—I am married to a man who has built a home on his first wife's property. Of course it belongs to her children, as it should, but he has property and money to build us a home. His children are grown up.

Our plans were to live in this house one year, but he says he may not build one at all. I am not happy here and he is well aware of that. In fact, I can't stand it.

A separation would be bad for the children on both sides. I have grown children who are all on their own.

We could be very happy if things were different. I feel out of place here. Maybe you can help me.

VERY DISSATISFIED.

Answer:

You did not say whether your step-children are married or single, but I suppose you feel that you are not really mistress of your home and this makes you unhappy.

I think you should either be mistress of your husband's home, or if he feels that it belongs to his children even before his death, he should move to another home that you can run.

No woman likes to play second fiddle in her home and a man should have that matter settled before he marries a second time.

LOUISA.

Dear Louisa—We are a couple of very unhappy girls. We, without realizing it, stood up a couple of fellows that we like a lot.

We accepted a second date after we thought they had gone. Unfortunately, they saw us and now they won't speak to us. But they are always passing us and ignoring us.

We would like your advice as to how we can get them to talk to us so we can explain the situation.

Please help us.

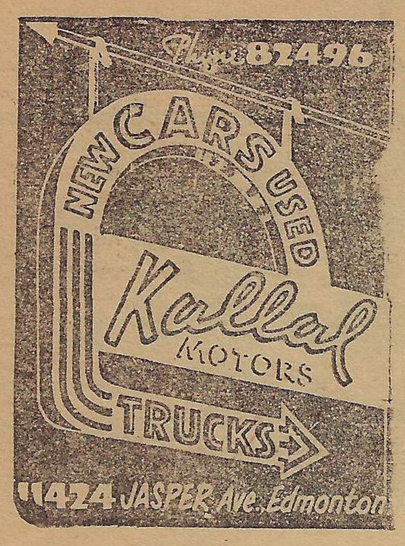

DOUBLE-TROUBLED.

Answer:

I think your best plan is to write them a letter and start it off by asking them to read it through. Then tell them that you would not have stood them up, knowingly, but that you had reason to think they had gone. Then ask them to give you an opportunity to explain to them the circumstances.

If a letter doesn't do the trick, I don't know any better method.

LOUISA.
